Dedicated

To the memory of

Carrie White Avery

22 February 1873 to 28 January 1925

and

Aurelia McC. Jewell

10 May 1900 to 9 May 1992

buried Oakwood Cemetery, Falls Church

and

In honor of our inspiration

Jane Kirkpatrick Wall

whose contributions made these volumes possible.

Genealogists build on one another's research from generation to generation.

Please Note:

This volume is to be used as a supplement to Volumes I - V. Most of the surveys in this volume are corrections and additions to complete surveys in our other volumes.

Maps for each volume are reproduced here, followed by the table of contents for that volume which includes references to the page numbers for corrections, additions and updates (in bold) which follow.

IMPORTANT!

The City of Alexandria is an independent municipality and not a part of Fairfax County. Since the series Fairfax County, Virginia Gravestones covers only those cemeteries within the confines of the county, cemeteries which lie within the city limits of Alexandria are not included.

An area of Fairfax County just south of the city limits of Alexandria is known as "South Alexandria." Cemeteries in this area of the county are included in the South Alexandria section.

Nearly all of the cemeteries and private burial grounds that were once within the current city limits of Alexandria have been catalogued and researched by Wesley E. Pippenger, of Arlington, Virginia. In his four-volume series Tombstone Inscriptions of Alexandria, Virginia, Mr. Pippenger gives detailed information about 36 separate burial locations. This series is available from Willow Bend Books, Westminster, Maryland.
